

Community Arts Practice (CAP) York University

York University's Community Arts Program is the only one of its kind in Canada, and comprises education, research, and art-making activities involving faculty and community members, students and non-students. A central focus is an undergraduate certificate in Community Arts Practice for students, non-students, activists and community workers. The CAP Certificate is jointly hosted by the faculties of Environmental Studies and Fine Arts at York University's Keele Campus, and can be completed part-time or full-time. Students develop artistic skills, deepen their social analysis, and learn to work collaboratively with groups for social change.
